SVRI Forum 2015 brings together colleagues from around the world, under the theme of innovation and intersections, to discuss and network around scientific and practical matters related to the prevention of, and response to sexual and intimate partner violence and child abuse and neglect in a variety of settings among different populations, in low and middle income countries.

SVRI FORUM 2015 WILL FOCUS DEBATE ON THE FOLLOWING KEY QUESTIONS:

- What are the intersections of different forms of gender-based and other forms of violence across the lifespan and why do they matter?
- What social norms are related to sexual and intimate partner violence, child abuse and neglect and how do we change them?
- How should we evaluate social norm change interventions and other forms of prevention?
- How can we integrate prevention and responses to violence into other sectors including health, education, social development, sports and justice sectors?
- If we know it works, what does it cost and how do we scale up effective programs?
- What works to prevent or respond to sexual violence in conflict, post conflict and humanitarian settings?
HOW TO GET INVOLVED

The SVRI Forum 2015 programme is abstract driven, with the exception of one or two issue driven panels. Different ways you can participate in this important event include:

• Oral and poster presentations: These presentations describe a research project, or intervention that talks to our theme; focuses on sexual, intimate partner and/or childhood violence; addresses key debates current in the field among different populations in different priority settings.

• Special sessions: These sessions allow you to innovate and experiment with the Forum format. The form of a special session is yours to design.

• Pre-conference workshops: Workshops will offer an opportunity to learn research techniques, new technologies and interventions and to foster scholarship and collaboration.

• Exhibition stands: If you are looking to develop international networks and to promote your work globally, you will benefit from a stand at the SVRI Forum 2015.

• Sponsorship: Support the SVRI Forum 2015 and receive additional exposure for your organisation.
A priority for SVRI Forum 2015 is to promote equity in north-south, south-south, and academic–practitioner research partnerships. Researchers submitting abstracts for interventions are encouraged to ensure practitioner partners attend the Forum.
